RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

Introduction

RQBE is committed to conducting business in an open and honest manner, and to ensure that only the highest ethical standards are displayed in all areas of our business.

Acts of fraud, bribery and corruption can greatly impact our profitability and reputation, as well as undermine our customers' confidence in our products and services. There may also be an indirect impact on policyholders through premium increases arising from high claims cost as a result of fraudulent activities.

As such, RQBE as part of its risk management practices seeks to avoid significant operational risk exposures or losses caused by:

- ◆ illegal conduct by RQBE personnel or agents;
- ◆ employee dishonesty, including internal fraud or collusion with external parties

RQBE, through its employees, seeks to do the right thing by its customers (including brokers, intermediaries, agents, end customers and business partners), its people, its shareholders and the communities which it works in (including regulators and Government).

It will respond to instances of suspected fraudulent acts whether internal or external with rigour and where appropriate by all legally available means.

The Board and Management of RQBE support a zero-tolerance approach to any acts of fraud, bribery or corruption committed to gain a business advantage. It is recognised that such acts pose significant regulatory, legal and reputational risks to the company and should be severely dealt with.

References to “RQBE” mean “Raheja QBE General Insurance Company Limited”.

Purpose

This Policy provides Management and staff of RQBE with a framework to:

- ◆ managing and mitigating risks of fraud, bribery and corruption
- ◆ identify, measure, control and monitor fraud risk,
- ◆ investigate and report frauds,
- ◆ increase staff awareness of the types of fraudulent activities that RQBE may be exposed to in the course of business activities,
- ◆ create awareness among intermediaries and policyholders to counter insurance frauds, and
- ◆ ensure compliance with the relevant laws (including IRDA's Circular no. IRDA/SDD/MISC/CIR/009/01/2013 on Insurance Fraud Monitoring Framework) and policies which are applicable to each person in his/her role whilst carrying out business on behalf of RQBE.

Scope

This Policy applies to every director, officer, employee and contractor of RQBE.

I. Definitions

- (I) Fraud: Fraud in insurance, as defined in the IRDA Circular on Insurance Fraud Monitoring, is an act or omission intended to gain dishonest or unlawful advantage for a party committing the fraud or for other related parties. This may, for example, be achieved by means of:
- ◆ misappropriating assets
 - ◆ deliberately misrepresenting, concealing, suppressing or not disclosing one or more material facts relevant to the financial decision, transaction or perception of the insurer's status
 - ◆ abusing responsibility, a position of trust or a fiduciary relationship.

Fraudulent activities can be internally or externally focused, or a mix of the two where collusion exists.

- (II) Bribery: is the act of making a payment in money or in kind to another individual which will or is intended to cause a person to act in a way that is contrary to the interests of his or her principal or employer, is contrary to the principal's or employer's policy on a given issue or is against the public interest.

Such payments will typically be paid without the knowledge or agreement of the principal or employer and include payments intended to influence the outcome of a specific action or event, as well as the actions over a period of time.

- (III) Corruption: is any dishonest activity in which a director, executive, manager, employee or contractor of an entity acts contrary to the interests of the entity and abuses his or her position of trust in order to achieve some personal gain or advantage for him or herself or for another person or entity.

III. Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Risk and Control Assessment

An assessment of the risks of fraud, bribery and corruption needs to be undertaken annually. This is completed as part of the company risk assessment based on the RQBE Risk Management Strategy.

IV. RQBE's Fraud Management Framework

The Fraud Management Framework ("FMF") encapsulates the:

- a) Identification of potential areas of fraud and assessment of RQBE's risk profile
- b) Processes and procedures to proactively identify, detect, investigate and report fraud

RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

c) Roles and responsibilities of the parties responsible for fraud management

➤ Potential areas of frauds and assessment of risk profile

Financial Crimes, encompassing fraud and corruption, are a subset of operational risks. These fraud risks, however, differ greatly from other risks as they are deliberately perpetrated, involving the elements of intent and concealment, which could make them difficult to trace.

There are 3 broad categories of frauds, namely:

- a) Policyholder Fraud and/or Claims Fraud - Fraud against RQBE in the purchase and/or execution of an insurance product, including fraud at the time of making a claim.
- b) Intermediary Fraud - Fraud perpetrated by an insurance agent / Corporate Agent/ intermediary / Third Party Administrators (TPAs) against the RQBE and/or policyholders.
- c) Internal Fraud – Fraud / mis-appropriation by its Director, Manager and/or any other officer or staff member, including collusion with parties internal or external to the RQBE and fraud perpetrated by any external party (e.g. auditors, consultants, loss adjusters) engaged as a service provider by the insurer.

An illustrative list of insurance frauds may be found in Appendix 1. These instances include frauds perpetrated internally by insurance agents, corporate agents, intermediaries or TPAs, and instances of claims or policyholder frauds.

The risk profile should be established to determine RQBE's overall vulnerability to acts of fraud, bribery or corruption. The risk profile can be determined in the context of the following factors:

- Size, composition and volatility of business;
- Organisational structure;
- Products and services offered;
- Remuneration and promotion policies;
- Distribution modes;
- Market conditions/environment; and
- Past experiences of fraud, bribery and corruption.

Each factor should be assessed on how significant an impact it is likely to have on RQBE's overall vulnerability level. This will be based on the RMS rating scale of Critical, High, Medium and Low.

Key functional areas in RQBE carry out annual risk assessments to identify risks, including risk of frauds in their area of responsibilities, and assess the effectiveness of controls to mitigate these risks.

V. Risk & Control Assessment

Business entity should also identify areas of RQBE's business where fraud, bribery or corruption risks could have a potential material impact. These risks typically could emanate from various parts of the key business process; e.g. Claims, Finance, Procurement or Underwriting.

Key controls must be put in place to effectively reduce or mitigate the risks. RQBE should regularly monitor and review any changes to its risk profile and the effectiveness of its controls in managing the identified risks, and ensure that the risk and control assessment is kept as updated as soon as possible to reflect any significant changes in the business or risk environment.

VI. Processes and procedures to proactively identify, detect, investigate and report fraud

Identification of fraud typically begins with a slight indication that something may not be right, such as the receiving of anonymous tips, unusual patterns in the financial statements or control overrides. Each key functional unit has responsibilities to identify and manage fraud risks within their area of responsibilities.

- All employees, including Directors, are required to make a declaration of any potential conflicts of interest which may arise due to personal, financial or other reasons. This is done annually or when the conflict situation arises.

X. Code of Conduct Signoff

RQBE's Code of Conduct covers the following guidelines on:

- Employee Conflict of interest
- Dealing honestly with customers (which include insured, agents, brokers and outside suppliers)
- Providing gifts, entertainment and other business courtesies to any customers
- Acceptance of business courtesies from customers or suppliers for procurement
- Dealing with any government or foreign officials

RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

It is against RQBE's policy to:

- Give kickbacks to any customers;
- Contribute or donate RQBE funds, products, services or other resources for any political cause, party or applicant.

All employees are also required to annually sign their acceptance of the Code of Conduct to indicate that they have read through the policy and that they understand the behaviour which is expected of an employee of RQBE.

XI. Embedding Anti-fraud, bribery and corruption management

➤ Risk Awareness & Training

Every employee should have a general awareness of fraud, bribery and corruption and how he or she should respond if such activity is detected or suspected. This could be heightened through a fraud, bribery and corruption awareness training on a regular basis to raise their overall awareness. The training should include:

- A clear definition of the types of behaviour which constitute fraud, bribery and corruption;
- The measures which are currently in place within RQBE to manage the risks of fraud, bribery and corruption;
- A reminder on the severity of such offences, as well as the consequences if an employee is found guilty of them; and
- An unequivocal statement that such practices will not be tolerated within RQBE.

A dedicated section of the Division intranet will be established to communicate the areas highlighted above.

XII. Detection, Reporting & Investigation for Employees and Contractors

A developed detection and monitoring system should also be in place to increase the likelihood of detecting fraud, bribery or corruption within RQBE. This includes:

- Identifying fraud, bribery and corruption risk indicators for the various areas of business – in the event that an indicator is triggered, a more in-depth investigation and follow-up actions should be taken;
- Post-transactional reviews by personnel unconnected with the business unit in which the transactions were effected; and
- Analysis of management accounting reports to identify suspicious trends.

Employees and contractors should report all actual or suspected fraud matters directly through their line manager, or their two-up manager.

If the employee is not comfortable reporting to his or her line manager, or one of these people is suspected of involvement in the fraud or corruption itself, they should contact either the:

- HR Head
- Compliance Officer
- Chief Executive Officer

The incident report should, at the minimum, comprise the following details:

- Date of the incident;
- Name and identification of the alleged offender;
- Relationship between the offender and RQBE;

RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

- Brief description of the offence;
- Estimated dollar amount involved in the offence; and the
- Recommended management action plan.

Those complaints deemed to be vexatious will be investigated and disciplinary action may be taken and may result in dismissal.

XIII. Investigation Response

Following any incident report of fraud, bribery or corruption, the Country Risk Manager or ERM Manager will:

- Inform and update the CRO AP and CEO AP on instances involving internal fraud, bribery or corruption and provide a monthly report on the developments of the investigation;
- Conduct a thorough investigation of the incident;
- Involve the Internal Audit Team where necessary to commence investigations with the presence of a HR Liaison and an External Liaison as appropriate;
- Notify the relevant local regulatory authorities (including lodging a police report) as necessary;
- Take necessary legal actions to recover lost assets/money or require restitution by defrauding parties as appropriate.

XIV. Fraud Response Plan

RQBE has developed a Fraud Response Plan (FRP) to detect, investigate and report any instances of fraud. The FRP includes the following:

- i. Determining the appropriate course of action
- ii. Initial reaction to allegations of fraud
- iii. Investigation procedure
- iv. Managing external relations
- v. Recovering assets
- vi. Taking the necessary disciplinary action
- vii. Taking the appropriate follow-up action

When informed of a fraud, managers:

- should listen carefully and with respect to staff, ensure that every report is treated seriously and sensitively,
- give every allegation a fair hearing.

Managers should obtain as much documentation and information as possible regarding the alleged fraud, including any notes or evidence, and they should reassure staff members that they will be protected and will not suffer any reprisal for having reported allegations made in good faith.

Managers are required to prepare a written report of the details of any suspected fraud that has been reported to them, and provide it to the Compliance Officer/Chief Executive Officer.

Managers should not confront the alleged perpetrator or carry out an investigation themselves. Instead, the matter should be reported immediately to the Compliance Officer/Chief Executive Officer. If the Compliance Officer/Chief Executive Officer is not available, then the manager should report it to the Authorised Director in the absence of the Chief Executive Officer.

The Compliance Officer should be copied on all correspondence with the Chief Executive Officer or Authorised Director. Significant amounts of time should not be lost in reporting the suspected fraud.

RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

(a) Determining the Appropriate Course of Action

- ◆ As a matter of principle, once an alleged fraud is reported to the Compliance Officer, he/she will disclose all relevant information to the Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer, Head of Human Resources.
- ◆ If any of these persons are thought to be involved, then the report should bypass the person.
- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer will determine in consultation with the Compliance Officer, and the Head of Human Resources, whether the case can be dealt with internally, or whether external involvement is necessary. Any decision made to contact external experts or police have to be recorded.
- ◆ A decision to involve an external source will depend on the magnitude and the complexity of the fraud and the individuals involved.
- ◆ The Compliance Officer will advise the Chief Executive Officer on the involvement of the police in the given case. The final decision to involve the police will be at the Chief Executive Officer's discretion.
- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer could seek the advice and require the involvement, as necessary, from the Internal Auditor, the Risk Committee of the RQBE , and any other specialist accountant and financial investigators

(b) Initial Reaction to Allegations of Fraud

- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer will act promptly to determine a course of action commensurate with the seriousness of the alleged offence. Appropriate actions could range from taking the individual out of his/her position into another position during the investigation, enforcing paid or unpaid leave, or even suspension. In all cases involving employee fraud, the course of action will be determined in consultation with HR Team and if necessary seek Legal Advice. If the suspected person(s) are allowed to remain on the premises and/or continue with their employment duties, arrangements must be made to keep the person(s) under close surveillance.
- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer will ensure that all information in the possession of the suspected individual is secured for investigation.
- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer, in consultation with the Compliance Officer, will mitigate the risk of future losses by immediately adjusting procedures in order to protect assets and to preserve evidence, including, if necessary, suspending payments (such as of salary or of invoices) .
- ◆ Relevant insurers will be notified immediately of any loss or damage to RQBE's insured property.

(c) Investigation Procedure

- ◆ Depending on the magnitude and the complexity of the fraud, investigations will be either:
 - (1) carried out in-house by the Compliance Officer;
 - (2) carried out by external parties such as external audit firms with specialized forensic accounting expertise and access to criminal law expertise;
 - (3) carried out based on whatever deemed appropriate by the police. The decision whether to use internal or external investigation services, or a combination of both, will be made by the Chief Executive Officer on the advice of the Compliance Officer, with the assistance of local legal counsel where necessary.

RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

- ◆ Investigations will be conducted without regard to any person's relationship to the organization, position or length of service. The Compliance Officer will keep records of all the actions taken in the investigation for any potential future criminal, civil or disciplinary action.
- ◆ The Compliance Officer will determine who should not be involved in the investigation to avoid a situation of a conflict of interest for staff members and managers with close working relationships with the individual(s) in question.
- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer will ensure that full access of files and computers is granted to the Compliance Officer and any external body assisting him/her to search the work area in question. All searches are to be conducted in a lawful manner, to ensure that evidence is admissible in court if required. The Compliance Officer will keep records of any actions taken or handling of evidence.
- ◆ Interviews, if necessary, will be structured and documented as much as possible. The Compliance Officer will develop the procedure, in consultation with the Legal Adviser.
- ◆ The Compliance Officer will issue a report detailing the findings and conclusions of every concluded investigation, including recommendations for future actions. Results of investigations will not be disclosed to or discussed with any person apart from the Compliance Officer, Chief Executive Officer, HR Team, Chief Financial Officer, Risk Committee, and anyone with a legitimate need to be involved. This is important as it avoids damaging the reputation of those suspected of wrongdoing and subsequently found innocent, and to protect the Company from potential civil liability and loss of reputation and goodwill.

(d) Managing External Relations

- ◆ In the case of substantiated fraud, RQBE will take immediate steps to mitigate potential loss of RQBE's reputation and credibility with stakeholders and partners. Where an investigation confirms that an act of fraud was committed, the Chief Executive Officer, in consultation with the Authorised Director if need be, will disclose the details of the fraud, the assets / resources affected, and the efforts being made to remedy the situation to any stakeholders and partners with an interest in the affected area. This must be done in a timely manner and with great care to be transparent and responsible while not unduly alarming stakeholders or partners.
- ◆ In high profile cases of fraud, the Chief Executive Officer will be responsible for managing and monitoring any media response.

(e) Recovering Assets

Where RQBE has suffered pecuniary loss or loss of other material assets, efforts will be made to seek restitution from the individual(s) responsible for the fraud. This can be done through the following methods:

- ◆ Making arrangements for voluntary payment
- ◆ Making deductions from benefits payments or a pension scheme if permitted by law
- ◆ Considering an insurance claim
- ◆ Taking civil action to obtain a judgment for the loss
- ◆ Obtaining compensation orders in criminal cases
- ◆ Considering any other appropriate means of recovery

(f) Disciplinary Action

Where the Compliance Officer's investigation reveals that an RQBE staff member has committed a fraud, the Chief Executive Officer, in consultation with the Authorised Director and the Head of Human Resources, will pursue disciplinary or legal action as appropriate. Criminal prosecution should be pursued if necessary. Otherwise, depending on the nature of the case, one or more of the following options may be applied, consistent with the perpetrator's relationship with RQBE and the rights and obligations therein under the applicable law:

- ◆ Counselling
- ◆ Loss of privileges
- ◆ Greater scrutiny or increased controls
- ◆ Transfer to another area
- ◆ Demotion
- ◆ Suspension
- ◆ Termination
- ◆ Immediate dismissal

Disciplinary action could also be brought against supervisors whose failures have contributed to the conduct of fraud or against staff members who deliberately make an allegation in bad faith.

(g) Follow-up Action

- ◆ Following a case of fraud, the Chief Executive Officer will ensure that all managers and staff in the affected area are debriefed on the process and outcome of the investigation. There should also be a follow-up with the individual(s) who reported the initial suspicion of fraud to provide assurance that their claims have been taken seriously.
- ◆ Depending on the circumstances, the Chief Executive Officer will consider the need for communication with staff, stakeholders and partners on a larger scale.
- ◆ The Chief Executive Officer will ensure that the organization conducts a thorough review of operating procedures in the areas affected by the fraud and that improvements are made where necessary.
- ◆ Where applicable, lessons learned should be disseminated throughout the company to strengthen the system of internal control and to foster an anti-fraud culture. A report on actions taken will be submitted to the Risk Committee of RQBE.

XV. Monitoring and Assurance

➤ Internal Audit

- ◆ The Internal Audit function provides assurance to RQBE's fraud, bribery and corruption risk management process. The Internal Audit Team reports administratively to senior management and functionally to Group Internal Audit Manager and the Board Audit Committee. Internal Audit provides independent assurance that the risk management framework and the design and operation of the controls across RQBE are effective.
- ◆ The Internal Audit Team assesses whether the fraud, bribery and corruption risks outlined in this document are being adequately mitigated and Internal Audit reviews are specifically designed to achieve this objective and assurance.
- ◆ Critical and high risk issues identified by the Internal Audit Team are reported to the AP Chief Risk Officer on a monthly basis, detailing the proposed management action to be taken.

XVI. Policy Review

This Anti-Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy shall be reviewed annually to ensure that the contents of the Policy accurately reflect the changing business environment and regulatory requirements within the RQBE.

RQBE Anti Fraud, Bribery & Corruption Policy

XVII. Non-Compliance with this Policy

- ◆ Non-compliance with this policy will result in disciplinary action which could include the termination of the employment or agency contract of the errant employee or agent respectively, and/or reporting of the incident to the relevant local authorities as appropriate.
- ◆ RQBE reserves the right to pursue legal action(s) against the responsible party to recover any stolen property or assets, or for any exposure it may have to criminal and/or civil liability (including financial penalty or liability for damages) as a result of any acts of dishonesty by employees, agents or any party against RQBE.
